GERMAN CHANCELLOR URGES PEACE MOVE, SAYS DUTY REPORT

Amsterdam Newspaper Declares He Told Recent Conference That Empire Is on Verge of Bankruptcy
ASKED MEETING TO URGE
MODERATION IN REICHTAG Conference Refused, Where-
upon He Said if Reichstag Took Same Attitude He Would Tender Resignation

(By Associated Press.)
AMSTERDAM (Via London), Aug. 23.—At the secret conference of cabinet ministers, political leaders and influential writers, called by the German imperial chancellor last Thursday to discuss the political situation, the Reichstag, says, Karl Helfferich, secretary of the treasury, explained that the new German war loan would completely exhaust the empire's financial resources
and that the increase in exchange bonds would cause bankruptcy. Therefore, Dr.
Helfferich urged, it was needful to prepare for an honorable peace.
Chancellor Von Bethmann-Hollweg,
according to the same report, declared that the difficulties of the empire were overwhelming and advised his hearers to use their influence to soften down bellicose sentiments and expansion policy in the Reichstag and the country and carefully prepare peace proposals which would be acceptable to the four members of the entente.
Dr. Bernhard Dernburg's report of the state of his mission in the United States and other neutral countries, the chancellor says, made a strong impression on the conference.
General Von Moltke, former chief of the general staff, declared that he fully agreed with the chancellor and added that only those not fully informed on the situation could hope for the possibility of a peace move.
Despite these declarations, the story continues, the meeting refused to adopt a resolution advocating moderation in the Reichstag, whereupon the chancellor declared that if a majority in the Reichstag should show an irreconcilable attitude he would be obliged to resign
as he could not accept responsibility
for Germany's disaster.
President Wilson has given up for the present his plans to return to Corning,
N. Y.
All but three cabinet members are out of the city. A cabinet meeting will be held when conclusive evidence about the state of the Reichstag is received.

DARING FRENCH AVIATOR FLEES DETENTION CAMP Eugene Gilbert Gets Away From Switzerland and Is Back in Paris

(By Associated Press.)
PARIS, Aug. 22.—Eugene Gilbert, the French aviator who landed in Switzerland June 27 through an accident to his motor, after bounding the Zeppelins at Friedrichshafen, and was incarcerated at Gernsheim, has escaped.
Mr. Gilbert arrived in Paris last night and reported at the French ministry of war.
Gilbert gained fame before the war
as a record international aviation meet-
er. In 1912, he created a new world record by flying 172 miles within a stop in 5 hours 52 minutes and 8 seconds.
In April, 1913, Gilbert broke the world's non-stop record in a flight from Paris to Victoria, Spain, when he traveled a distance of 513 miles.
In August, 1913, the Frenchman made a trip of 1,030 miles from Paris to Petersburg, on the Portuguese frontier.

Japan Will Aid Russia Against Teutonic Foes

Japan Believes Time Has Arrived for More Concerted Action Against the Enemies
of Nippon and the Allies
(By Associated Press.)
TOKYO, Aug. 23.—The Kokum Shin-
bun says:
"Premier Okuma states that Japan has decided to give greater assistance to Russia to prosecute the war. He could not discuss details, but allowed it to be understood that the assistance would take the form of the supply of greater supplies of munitions."
The Associated Press learns that Japan has decided to employ all available governmental and private resources for increasing the output of munitions for the allies, particularly Russia. The Japanese government believes the time has arrived for more concerted action against the enemies of Japan and her allies.
One of Russia's greatest embarrassments has been a shortage of guns and ammunition. Military writers, while not discounting the effectiveness of the Japanese arms, have stated that the extent of recent Russian reverses has been due in part to inadequate supplies of munitions.
The Japanese facilities are entirely insufficient to meet the large demands of such a campaign as is under way. With the Baltic sea closed to her vessels from without, she has been able to import supplies only through Archangel, or over the Trans-Siberian railroad. The attempt of the allies to force the Dardanelles
has one of its objects the opening of the straits route for the assistance of Russia.
Japanese have been placed in the United States by Russia and extensive shipments have been made from Pacific ports. Japan has forwarded war supplies to Russia.
Advices received by the Associated Press from Vladivostok several weeks ago said that great amounts of supplies
were being received there for transportation to the Russian front.

Autumn Touch Puts New Snap In City's Life

Atlanta traveled Monday. She went to the coast of Maine, and stole a cool savored in the city. The weather was just what the city needed. A day of the finest sunshine; she romped up to the north Carolina mountains and revelled
with the temperatures that make Toronto famous. The result was intoxicating.
The whole city felt the effects of it.
On the whole, the weather was a tree in early fall: the gold links to the city and east filled up early this morning. In the afternoon, in the downtown office men took hold of their affairs with a new snap and energy. Invigorated by the winter spirit in the air. And on the sidewalks of the city, the fox fur ladies did not find their summer fur quite so uncomfortable
after all.
The weather man said the mercury went as low as 61 Monday morning at 6 o'clock, and it didn't rise until during the day. The weather man was a little more pleased than any one else
in the city, because it was just the kind
he predicted Saturday.
"All the rain gone and cool, sunshiny days are here," he said then. And it seems that he certainly told the truth
this time.

STATE DEPARTMENT STARTS GERMAN TO EXPLAIN ARABIC

Explanation Will Not Be Demanded Until the Facts Are Known and Germany Fails to Initiate Explanation
GERARD TO ASK WHETHER
REPORT HAS BEEN MADE
Meanwhile, Page and Consuls
in England Are Busy Securing Affidavits From Survivors of Torpedoed Vessel

(By Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, Aug. 23.—Secretary
Lansing today called Ambassador Gerard at Berlin, asking if the German government had received an official report on the sinking of the Arabic. The ambassador, however, was not instructed to ask for one.
Official announcement was made at the White House today that "as soon as all the facts regarding the Arabic are ascertained our course of action will be determined."
This official announcement was given out by Secretary Tamm after a conference with President Wilson. Mr. Tamm said the statement was all that was authorized to say.
The statement bore out previous unofficial statements made at the White House and the department that President Wilson had not determined what action the American government would take and would suspend judgment while awaiting receipt of all facts available
from all sources.
It was officially stated that the American government is not yet at all sure of the facts and considers its information very fragmentary.
Secretary Lansing said no steps had been taken other than to get accurate information as to what had occurred.
From the fact that the Arabic was sunk and directed to sea, it is probable that the information was drawn from the German government and that the American government may have to offer an explanation it may have to offer.
The German government has sent by mail some affidavits and other data,
but he has been instructed to cable a view of the state department, no doubt regarding the important questions
of convoy, the change of course right before the torpedo struck, and other points. All the information received, aside from newspaper reports, is in a brief affidavit by an American, Zella Covington, who was on board the Arabic, and a statement that this shall be corroborated
and supplemented.
The department accounts for the apparent delay in securing affidavits by the fact that the Arabic survivors left London and went to the United States on the ship, and the American embassy will be expected to make statements, which may be slow work.

Arabic, Unarmed; Attempted Neither Escape Nor Attack

(By Associated Press.)
LONDON, Aug. 23.—The British admiralty today made the following statement:
"The Arabic was an unarmed passenger ship, outward bound to a neutral port. It was thus impossible for her to have been carrying contraband to the enemy."
"She was sunk by a German submarine without warning, and she neither attempted to attack the submarine nor to escape from it."

The movement started by Mayor Pro-

Jasper N. Smith Seeing America At Age of 81

Mr. Jasper N. Smith, known to all Atlanta as "Uncle Jack," the man who scorns a necktie, whether it twines itself on a statue, a picture, or he neck in the flesh, has succumbed to the "see America first" slogan.

Last month he packed his grip and hied away to the Crescent City. Today he is on a swift-moving train headed for Washington. From there he is going to New York.

"I'll stay just as long as I please," said Uncle Jack, as he sat waiting in the Union station.

He looked spick and span, clad in a neat business suit, a high collar, sans cravat, and a tall silk hat.

Three score years and twenty-one have taught Uncle Jack that there comes a time to spend as well as to save, so he intends to pass much of his time on Pullmans in the future, he says.

He is accompanied by his cousin, Mrs. Spinks, and his son, Mr. Hilleman Smith. All Atlanta wishes him "bon voyage."

GOLD AND SILVER SHOW BIG INCREASE IN 1914

Gold in U. S. Exceeds 1913 by $5,647,400; Silver Exceeds 1913 by $3,126,400

(By Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, Aug. 23.—Increased production of both gold and silver in the United States for the calendar year 1914 as compared with 1913 is shown in a statement issued today by the Director of the Mint Woolley.

The gold output was 4,572,976 fine ounces, valued at $94,521,809; and silver 72,485,106 fine ounces, the commercial value of which was $10,657,760. Gold produced was greater by $5,647,400 than in 1913 and silver was greater by $3,126,400.

Nevada and Utah showed the principal decreases in gold production—441,200 and 433,800 ounces, respectively. The increases were: Colorado 1,792,700; Idaho 1,245,900; California 1,010,600; and Montana 852,700.

Alaska showed the largest gain in silver with 3,096,700 fine ounces, valued at $17,125,600.

Today's figures are two months ahead of last year's, the compilation being hastened because of the extraordinary interest in the question of the gold supply.

KICK AGAINST ODORS FROM THE CREMATORY

Men at Union Depot Claim
West Wind Carries Stench
From Garbage

A west wind brought noxious odors to the center of the city Sunday and Monday morning, causing C. H. Garrett, telephone operator at the Union depot, and others to register strenuous protests against the crematory, which so long been a cause of litigation between the city and the Destructor company of New York.

A special council committee of ten, headed by Alderman J. R. Sawright, is now making an investigation of the crematory with special reference to the odors about which there have been many complaints.

The Destructor company claims that the crematory is not causing the odors; that is, not the crematory itself. It is contended that odors may come from the pit where garbage is received, which the company says the city has been keeping so full of garbage that although the report makes the maximum amount of garbage daily, it can never get to the bottom of the pit.

The council committee has been unable to determine that the crematory is the cause of the bad odors, and it will likely report to council next Monday, recommending that the city supply more than ten tons of garbage daily for six days in the week, hauling no garbage on the seventh day, so that the pit can be cleaned out.

CAMP MEETING AUDIENCE TURN TO FIRE-FIGHTING

Exciting Times in Bonniebrae
When Mrs. Hogan's House
Burns Down

An old-fashioned Georgia camp meeting was in full swing near the Atlanta and West Point belt line through Bonnie Brae hamlet Sunday afternoon when the cry of "fire" was raised.

A block or two away the camp meeting crowd, assembled in the open air, could be seen hurrying toward the burning of flames. Immediately there was a rush and the campground was deserted.

The burning house of Mrs. Hogan on Burns street was alone. A two-story wooden dwelling was burned to the ground; but through the seal of the camp meeting crowd every stick of furniture, even the fixtures of the place, were saved, including blinds, window shades, doors and a heavy boarder who was found half asfocated on the second floor.

How to Heal Skin Diseases

A Baltimore Doctor suggests this simple, but reliable and inexpensive, home treatment for people suffering with eczema, ringworm, rashes and similar itching, burning skin troubles.

At any reliable drugstore get a jar of rescolint ointment and a cake of rescolint soap.

These are not at all expensive. Wash the affected parts with warm water and the rescolint soap, thoroughly, until the itching has subsided and the skin is softened. Dry very gently, spread on a thin layer of the rescolint ointment, and cover with a light bandage—if necessary to protect the clothing. This should be done twice a day.

Usually the distressing itching and burning stop with the first treatment, and the skin soon becomes clear and healthy again. Sample free. Dept. 28-R, Resinol, Baltimore, Md.—(Adv't.)

TEACUP FULL OF LAVA-LIKE EARTH

Has Wonderful Force in It—
Some Points About Crude
Vitalitas

One teacup full of lava-like substance as dug from the Vitalitas mound in Texas has more curative forces in it than any science knows that compares with it.

The question is asked if the raw material as mined out of the earth, is itself healing. It is, and wonderfully so. There is no other earth product so far as science knows that compares with it in medicinal force and properties.

Find it on a limb afflicted with rheumatism, on a sore or protruding piles and the results are like magic. By a simple process the chemical properties are extracted from Vitalitas in condensed liquid form, leaving a lifeless substance like powdered pumice.

Vitalitas will cleanse and reinvigorate the system as will nothing else. One teaspoonful of Vitalitas in a half glass of water constitutes a dose.

It assists in clearing the liver, in overcoming toxic notions and in putting vitality into every part of the system where it is lacking. Vitalitas is performing many marvelous cures. See the display and sample Vitalitas at Jacobs' Pharmacy, 215 Whitehall St., or write there for information.—(Adv't.)

They Urged Governor Harris to Put Prohibition in Extra Session Call

The following resolutions, urging Governor Harris to put prohibition in the call for an extra session, were adopted by the Methodist ministers Monday morning.

Atlanta, Ga., Aug. 23, 1915. To His Excellency, Hon. E. K. Harris, Governor of Georgia:

We, the undersigned ministers, members of the Methodist ministerial association of the Atlanta district, North Georgia conference, in session Monday, August 23, 1915, respectfully petition you to include in your call for an extra session of the legislature, the subject of prohibition.

The following are our reasons for the petition:

1. General and specific knowledge of the evils of the Georgia commonwealth leads us to believe that a large majority of the citizens of the state desire that prohibition be included in the call, and especially that the majority of the citizens of Atlanta, where we labor, are in full accord with this state-wide desire.

2. We have no fear that prohibition, if enacted, will damage the material interests of this community, or of any other community in the state; and we cite as one of many reasons for thinking thus the fact that all the great business corporations of the country have passed out liquor money.

3. While our peculiar interest in this question grows out of the moral issue involved, we are persuaded that any movement which improves the moral condition of a state must inevitably promote the material upbuilding of the state. We therefore think that those who oppose the inclusion of prohibition in the call for an extra session are in error.

4. We believe that, in this democratic state, the majority has a right to be heard on this issue. Wallace Rogers, C. C. Carey, H. H. Harris, C. P. Marchant, H. M. Dillard, L. L. Algood, W. H. Clark, Frank Quillian, H. B. May, C. V. Weathers, A. H. S. Rugg, L. G. Johnson, L. W. Collins, L. W. Rivers, William Greenway, J. O. Brand, C. A. Jamison, H. J. Jones, M. L. MAN SHOT BY BOY IN CRITICAL CONDITION

J. E. Brown, the man who was shot Saturday evening at the home of Mrs. May White, 951 Marietta street, by Mrs. White's fifteen-year-old son, Frank, has about one chance in a hundred of recovering, according to physicians at Grady hospital.

Frank White is being held at police station without bond, pending a change in his Brown's condition.

W. B. Neal, a stationary engineer, arrested in connection with the shooting, has been released.

North Avenue Fire

Smoke emanating from a blazing bathing suit filled the house of T. R. Brown, 123 East North avenue, Monday morning. The fire, which was caused by a match dropped on the suit, destroyed a chair and created much excitement. The burning suit and chair were discovered and hurried out of the window.

DR. LANDRUM PREACHES IN THE CRIME OF TREASON

Says It Is Worst of All Crimes and Lawlessness Approaches

In a sermon entitled "The Kingdom of God and the Georgia Commonwealth," Dr. W. W. Landrum, of Louisville, Ky., formerly of Georgia, preached Sunday morning at the First Baptist church against lawlessness.

Treason, he said, is the greatest crime known to civilization, and any form of lawlessness, whether manifested by one or many, comes close to being treason or anarchy.

Dr. Landrum prefaced his sermon by stating that he was born in Macon, raised in Savannah, and had been a pastor in Augusta as well as in other cities. He said that he might, without impropriety, exercise the right to speak on present conditions in the state of Georgia.

He said in part:

"Alexander Hamilton Stephens, examining a class of students at Liberty Hall years ago, put the question, 'What is the highest crime known to the law?' An impulsive fellow, cocksure of his knowledge, as we might imagine, replied: 'Murder.' 'By no means,' said Georgia's greatest son, 'murder,' he added in substance, 'is a crime, but it is not the most atrocious condemned by the statutes of civilized society—not murder, but treason, is the most detestable act of which a citizen may be guilty.'"

"Treason, in its narrowest sense, I know, is the attempt to overthrow the government of the state by force. It is the making of a grievance into the betrayal of the state into the hands of a foreign power."

"I read in Webster's International dictionary that treason is 'the betrayal of any trust or confidence.' And I make bold to say that any form of lawlessness, whether manifested by one or many, comes perilously near treason or anarchy."

"Christian citizens of Georgia have come upon a time when they must express themselves or be guilty of treason against the most high God. The kingdom of God is not the shade of the blessed dead, disembodied in the skies. It is here now, present and practical. It makes a grievance into the betrayal of the state into the hands of a foreign power. It is the making of a grievance into the betrayal of the state into the hands of a foreign power. It is the making of a grievance into the betrayal of the state into the hands of a foreign power."

"It sweeps the universe. It takes in the universal kingdom, as well as the kingdom of immortal souls, redeemed by Christ and renewed by the Holy Spirit. Our Georgia people must come to understand that Monday is as sacred as Sunday, the markets as the church, the court house as the Sunday school, the newspaper as the Bible, if we are to be intelligent subjects of the kingdom of God on earth."

NEGRO WOMAN SHOT DEAD IN HER HOME

People in the neighborhood of 165 Fort street were struck by a pistol shot Sunday night and rushed into the little negro cabin in the rear of this address to find a colored woman dead on the floor.

Her waist was in flames, her dress blazing, so that it was necessary to pour water over her body. She had been shot through the heart from such close range that the powder flash set her clothing on fire.

Police are searching for her husband, Sylvester Harris, who has been missing since the shooting.

MOSLEY PARK WILL HAVE GOLF COURSE

Improvements Begun Monday Will Make Park One of Prettiest Here

Improvements were begun Monday in Mosley park, in West End, which are expected to make it at the end of the year one of the most popular of the smaller public resorts of the city.

Besides other work, Manager J. O. Cochran, of the park department, announces that work has commenced on the building of a concrete lake and a nine-hole golf course.

The lake, which will be 200 feet by 40 feet, will be completed within a few months, according to Mr. Cochran, and also declares that when completed it will be one of the most beautiful in the city.

The underbrush has been cleared in the park so that the land where the golf course will be located is now ready for the work. Mr. Cochran states that the golf course cannot be completed until the fall.

This is Atlanta's first venture with a public golf course, and it is likely to be followed by an effort on the part of some members of the city council to secure sufficient appropriation to build a large course at Lakewood or at Piedmont park.

The plans used for the improvements at Mosley park were made by Robert B. Criddle, the landscape architect who planned the improvements at Lakewood. Mr. Criddle has also completed plans for further improvements at Lakewood park in the Fifth ward. Former Mayor Robert F. Maddox, for whom that park was named, engaged Mr. Criddle to make extensive plans for Maddox park and the park department will gradually build to his plans.

FEDERAL PRISONER'S FREEDOM CUT SHORT

James P. Kelly Arrested for Missouri Officers as He Finishes Sentence

When James P. Kelly stepped out of the federal penitentiary Monday morning after a service of nineteen months, his freedom was cut short by Deputy Sheriff Lee Haygood, who arrested him on an extradition warrant issued last week by Governor Harris. Kelly, who was known as Samuel Raymond, alias Oakland Sam, was arrested by Sheriff G. E. Gelvin and Judge D. C. Steiwer, of Holt county, Missouri, when Kelly was taken into custody. They have been in Atlanta a week, awaiting the decision of Kelly from the federal penitentiary.

Kelly denies that he is the man the Missouri officers allege him to be. He has instituted habeas corpus proceedings through Attorney Lamar Hill, and his case will be heard next Saturday. The Missouri officers allege that Kelly, alias Raymond, alias Oakland Sam, was convicted seventeen years ago of burglary and larceny and sentenced to a term of five years at Jefferson City. He escaped from there in 1900, and was sentenced to the penitentiary, and he was not heard of again until the guard from whom he escaped identified his photograph as that of a man serving a sentence in the federal penitentiary at Atlanta.

Before he was sentenced to the Atlanta prison, Kelly did time in the South Carolina penitentiary, where he was paroled by the then governor, Cole Blease. He was sent to Atlanta for an offense committed in Alabama.

Sunday afternoon about 3 o'clock, Kelly was in his cell at the penitentiary, and Mrs. C. F. Hill, the body was removed to Harry G. Poole's chapel, where the funeral will be held at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. The interment will be in Hollywood cemetery.

Lois A. Kline, thirteen-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Kline, died at their residence, 68 Stonewall street, Monday morning about 8 o'clock. The body was removed to Harry G. Poole's chapel, where the funeral will be held at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. The interment will be in Hollywood cemetery.

TODAY'S EVENING STORY

THE WAY.

(Copyright, 1915, by W. W. W. W.)

Sarah Lee stood at the window and looked hard at the slanting summer rain. Every drop seemed to fall with cold finality on her heart, drowning her dreams and all her foolish, pretty plans for a new gown and hat and a real vacation that summer. Not that the rain had anything at all to do with her disappointment. It was merely one of the added discomforts. On this day, when she had expected to be so perfectly happy, she was undergoing the first really big test of her character.

"There's no way out," she thought; "I must go to the springs for her health. And I can't go anywhere. I can't have a single new thing to send her."

It was not the loss of the clothes or of the vacation itself for which Sarah was grieving; it was for the fact that she was losing her one opportunity to meet Mark Cable again, and perhaps his claim to care for her as much as she cared for him. She had met him the winter before when she was visiting her cousin, Mrs. Bond, at Arles, for a few days. The moment she saw him she knew that he was different from all the other men she had ever known. Before the visit ended she realized that if he went out of her life forever he was going to leave a terrible emptiness and heartache. Once he came to Westmore to call on her, but while hope was still beautiful Cousin Eleanor wrote that he was paying attention to Miss Culligan, the new soloist at St. Christopher's. In the same breath she added: "You must come and spend your vacation with me this summer. Sarah—two whole weeks of it. And do have a blue dress of some kind. Blue is very becoming to you."

Every Drop Seemed to Fall With Cold Finality on Her Heart.

And now, when she had all her money saved and her vacation was scheduled to begin three weeks from this very day, mother was stricken down with rheumatism and must go to the springs for cure!

At twenty-two one has not yet learned to be brave or even resigned without a struggle. Sarah forgot her desperate little battle there in the face of the falling rain. When she turned away from the window she had accepted the inevitable and was determined to be decently cheerful about it. The one comforting thing was that mother did not suspect.

"I'll be back cured before it's time for your vacation to begin, dear," she said almost easily. "Now, get all your clothes ready while I'm gone. And don't worry about me."

"All right, mother," Sarah evaded, and she smiled as she kissed her mother good-bye.

Mrs. Lee leaned out of the car window to say:

"I wish you were going, too, love, but, of course, you wouldn't have the good time you'll have at Cousin Eleanor's."

"Dear lamb," Sarah thought, as she returned to the little, lonely house "I'll have to excuse my not going to Cousin Eleanor's some way. It will trouble her."

"They All Eye Mark."

but not half so much as that dreadful rheumatism would. And—and—I'll bear it some way.

Five and one-half days out of each seven Sarah worked as assistant editor in the office of the Westmore Gazette. It was dull work, smuggy work, monotonous work, but it earned a living for herself and her mother. It was work for which she had been trained by her father, who had himself been an editor. Since his death the delicately nurtured Lee women had found life at best rather hard.

Sarah going home at the close of her day's work to the lonely house, found herself restlessly lonely and sad. She could not read, she could not sew, and she dare not give herself over to thought.

"I must have employment," she thought. "I know what I will do. I'll bake a box of goodies for mother. That will remind her of home and me. And comfort her if she's a bit homesick. Besides, it will keep my mind off myself."

So Sarah baked fairy rolls and deli-

about bathing. I find the diet the hardest thing of all to put up with, for you know I do love good cooking. Of course, I shan't tell the doctors about the contents of that box, but when I'm safe in the room I snatch the cover off and just munch. I feel like I used to when I was a girl at the seminary and we used to have midnight spreads. Oh, by the way, your cousin, Eleanor's great friend, Mrs. Cable, is here with her son, Mark. Mrs. Cable is suffering from rheumatism, too, only she has it ten times worse than I have it. Why, she can scarcely crawl! Her son came with her to look after her until she gets better. He seems fearfully anxious. She and I have struck up an acquaintance on Eleanor's account, and he is so nice to me. I think he's a splendid young man. I gave Mrs. Cable a treat out of my box and she said she didn't know girls ever cooked like that nowadays. She talks about her son and I talk about my daughter. Dearest, I wish you'd bake me a loaf of that nut bread you make so well, and a dozen or so feather cakes. I'd like to have a little surprise for Mrs. Cable and Mark some night when they're in playing whist. I didn't tell you, did I, that we play cards almost every evening? There are about 200 pretty girls around here and they all say Mark, but he prefers his mother and me. I tell her I feel that a great compliment."

So Mark Cable was at the springs with his mother! How strange that I remembered seeing you at Eleanor's last winter, a slender, quiet, dark girl, she called you. But she had heard that you were an editor and she had never dreamed that you were domestic as well as literary. She is getting better so fast that she will be able to leave when I do. And she and Mark are both coming home with me to stay over train. That means we'll have to have a late luncheon for them. Look up the time table and be sure. And do have scalloped potatoes and Waldorf salad and chicken. Get Libby Jones to help you. And wear your blue dress. I've found out that Mark liked you in that blue dress you wore last winter—

It is almost superfluous to say that they came, that the luncheon was perfect—without any help from Libby Jones—and that between happiness and excitement Sarah was worth looking at in her blue dress. And Mark looked at her so much she knew somehow—even before he told her—that she wasn't going to need a vacation and new clothes to make him love her.

BOOBS AT THE FAIR.—By Goldberg.

THE REAL ESTATE FIELD

a lot of employment and turn loose money for material.

The operation of the compress and warehouses, which will begin by October 15, will give permanent employment to a good many people.

It is also pointed out that another big industrial development has been brought to the south, and its effect on real estate will be pronounced.

Preliminary work has already been started, and engineers were on the ground Monday making surveys of the site and getting everything in readiness for construction work. Material for the buildings, which will be of reinforced concrete, is already on the way here.

There were also hints, unofficial in nature, of other industrial developments in the Whitehall and Stewart avenue section, where the Candler enterprise is located.

The effect of the plan will be the virtual valorization of 200,000 acres of cotton at 7 cents a pound, which is the amount of money that will be loaned on such sale.

The fact, too, that the producers of cotton will be dealt with directly is also a matter of great importance.

The expenditure of $120,000 for the Murphy tract is some real estate deal itself. As announced, Smith & Ewing handled the sale.

As the buildings will cost approximately $500,000, Atlanta's building record will be boosted materially.

GENERAL MARKET.

There were no special real estate announcements Monday. There is a good deal of activity at the renting agencies on the eve of the moving season, which commences next week.

With the exception of a few dwelling permits and repair jobs, there was nothing doing in the building line.

ILLEGAL DRUG TRAFFIC FIGHT MARKING TIME

Officials Do Not Wish to Cause Needless Suffering to Morphine Users

The federal government's campaign in Atlanta to break up the illegal drug traffic was marking time Monday, pending the working out of plans to care for drug victims.

The federal officials, it was learned, now have the situation as well in hand as they believe they can completely shut off the illegal morphine trade, but they do not wish to take the final steps yet, for fear that a number of the addicted might suffer serious consequences.

The Fulton County Medical association will hold a meeting this week, probably Tuesday night, to discuss the situation with the city and federal officials.

D. J. Gantt, revenue agent, made it very plain Monday that the government's campaign is not going to stop because there is now no way to care for the drug fiends.

"We simply do not wish to move so rapidly," he said, "that the campaign may cost the lives of some of the poor fellows addicted to the habit, and there are many of them who are so weak that death would result if we made it impossible for them to secure any morphine at all."

Mayor Pro Tem I. N. Ragsdale and some of the officials of the health department are speaking favorably of the plan to establish for the next few months, at any rate, a city dispensary, where a physician could be on duty to give doses of morphine to people who could not live without it.

Members of council say that the city would not have authority to establish a farm or other institution for drug victims. Council passed a resolution a number of months ago, asking for a charter amendment, which would give the city that authority, but Representative E. R. Blackburn states that he did not hear of the request for such a charter amendment.

"KING OF APRICOTS" PAYS FLYING CALL

The king of the apricots—that delicious fruit out of which you make ice cream, preserves and brandy—left Atlanta Monday morning, after a three days' visit at the Georgian Terrace hotel. His name is L. E. Levi; he's a multi-millionaire, and he lives at Cupertino, California.

Mr. Levi, like every true king, has a palace. This palace is said to be one of the finest homes in California, and overlooks the magnificent Santa Clara valley, a valley filled with waving apricot trees. Mr. Levi has many friends in Atlanta, all of whom he invited to stop over at his apricot ranch whenever they happened to drop into California.

Mr. Levi raises most every kind of apricot, and ships them in enormous quantities—canned, raw, dried and otherwise—to all parts of the world, but his special pride is a mammoth fruit that grows no smaller than three to the pound.

THEATERS

The offering at the Strand for today is one of those gripping, dramatic pictures which holds its audience like a vise. It is a live-real sensational drama, "The Tigress," featuring Madame Olga Petrova, and tells the story in a highly dramatic and interesting way of a once pure woman, driven to a life of shame and revenge by the treachery of a Russian count.

As Stella Orloff, Madame Petrova has wide scope in which to display her splendid talents. Michael Orloff, her husband, has been arrested for treason. She appeals to the governor, Count Petroff, to save him, and he agrees to have him, but at the price of the wife's honor. Even then he plays her false, and instead of having a sham execution, as promised, real bullets were used, and the husband is killed. She tries to avenge the death of her husband, and after many stirring trials and difficulties is finally rescued by Jim Rason, an American.

REALTY MEN OPPOSE PROHIBITION IN CALL

Atlanta Board Adopts Resolutions to Submit to Governor Harris

Resolutions urging Governor Harris not to include prohibition in his call for an extra session of the legislature were unanimously adopted by the Atlanta Real Estate board at its meeting Monday. The resolutions follow:

"Whereas, an extra session of the legislature is about to be called by Governor Harris, and

"Whereas, state-wide prohibition may be incorporated in the governor's call, and

"Whereas, the market for our various leading commodities such as cotton, lumber, crockery, rosin, etc., has already been curtailed, thereby effecting taxable values of both farm and city properties, and

"Whereas, additional disturbances will only add to a condition which has not been more critical since the Civil war, certainly from a standpoint of property and taxable values; therefore, be it

"Resolved, That regardless of the merit of the cause of prohibition as claimed by its advocates, nothing should be done at this time to further multiply our already much disturbed condition of affairs, and therefore, be it

"Resolved, That the board of directors of the Atlanta real estate board urgently request Governor Harris not to include the subject of prohibition in his call."
